I was sipping on a drink when I noticed a nice looking oriental man entered the bar. He appeared to look quite upset so I did the usual chit chatting with him. His wife takes his money and also gives him no sex and furthermore runs around on him. He just wants a little respect. I told him about my similar story years ago and mentioned to him that I got much more satisfaction and also respect from just occasionally sex but with only men. I told him if he ever wanted any friend just ask me and I'll invite him over for some drinks. He had a few more beers and started to loosen up. I decided that now was a good time to tell him I was going home; hoping he wanted to join in my company. He asked if he could come over for a while and I, of course, said, " Sure ". When we got to my place I gave him another beer and put on a great lesbian porn movie that had good strap on action. I could tell he enjoyed the movie. I told him that know wonder we can't please women. They have hard everlasting dildos. I then asked if I could take care of him with no strings attached. After rubbing his leg and by that increasing him manhood, he slowly relaxed while I started my removing his pants. I knelt down on the floor while spreading his legs on both sides of me. I proceeded to caress his balls while lapping his ever so precumming hard cock with my mouth. Little by little, I sucked and swirled my tongue on his rod. I told him to tell me when he was about to shoot his load so I could swallow every last cum shot. Soon he gasped that he was about there, so I got down for some final lip/tongue steady sucking. All at once did he shoot and did I mean shoot. One jerk of cum after another for about six of them before he ended. He just melted with tired joy. I knew he would come back but not before I made him suck my swollen precumming cock off. For a novice he was a natural cock sucker. He was unbelievably good and also swallowed like a pro. That night was great. Sure like to meet guys like that again soon.
