

Between US

By AllieMac

Published on Lush Stories on 12 May 2011

Copyright ©2011 Allison McAllister @ Lushstories.com . All Rights Reserved.

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/between-us.aspx>

So two dimensional between us This distance between us Leaves me hanging in the moment Uncertainty clutters my vision Can't trust this raw emotion Running right below everything I allow you to see of me These games are just masks For another reason Between what we want And what I see right in front of me You lick your lips Leaving me longing to be On the other side – pushing right through All of those hopes you have The visions you need me to be You leave me wide open Needing – hungry for your hands Tearing down these walls Tasting your redemption Wrapping you into that dream space So deep inside your eyes In between these images we pass In the name of all that's forgotten