I was like chasing the starlight Looking for the love that is right I've fallen in love not once but thrice Somehow it brought tears to my eyes Scarred and scared to open up the door But falling in love is what I am looking for I cherish the feel of being loved Make my heart soar like a dove Simple acts of thoughtfulness Words laced with sweetness Coupled with sensuality and romance Will truly make my heart dance But I'm tired of chasing the starlight I cannot force where it should shine bright If love is really meant for me I know it will surely find its way.
