

Faith In Love

By AloraWytchwood

Published on Lush Stories on 13 May 2013

I'll fall in love again

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/faith-in-love.aspx>

Broken hearts and open wounds are my reward for love. Holding hands and treasured memories, Causes my heart to soar like a dove. When I am thinking of you, and thinking of me, I know my love was true. But you went new places and saw new faces, And you wanted someone new. So I'll bandage my heart and be on my way, Shedding a tear for the past. It's time to move on our time is done, I should have known your love wouldn't last. But I have faith in love, I know I'll fall in love again. I'll find someone new whose love will be true, And I'll fall in love again. Time has gone by and your love has died, And your happy with someone new. I think of the past and the time we shared, And the love we had that was so very rare. But our time wasn't then and isn't now, We'll never get that time back no matter how. No matter how I need you by my side, I know your love me has gone and died. But I have faith in love. I know I'll fall in love again. I'll find someone new whose love will be true, And I'll fall in love again.