

Falling

By broken1128

Published on Lush Stories on 29 Dec 2014

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/falling-1.aspx>

Once there was no you and me... But fate destined us to be friends. Friends, that's how it all started. How it all began, I really didn't understand Lately I'm having these strange feelings. How should I let you know that I often think of you? Somehow you're not just a friend anymore. My eyes will tell you that I care, and with every smile, you know it's something It's kinda hard to tell you what you mean to me Because the way I'm feelin' goes beyond what you could see. This is not fair, having these feelings when I know it might turn you away. I'm scared to find out where this is leading I keep thinking something's gonna change and somehow I can't take the chance of losing the friend I have in you.