

Foiled

By midwest_sweetheart

Published on Lush Stories on 27 Jan 2013

Fooling yourself into falling in love

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/fooled.aspx>

You tell yourself that you won't fall Your heart's been hurt enough. One more break could be the last, and you're not sure if you're that tough. But no matter how you watch your step You somehow manage still to fall. Sure, it starts out slow enough, But soon you're giving it your all. You deny your feelings to everyone, thinking that will make it true. Then you slowly start to see, the only one you've fooled is you...