A short poem I wrote.

This poem was written for Stuart. Thanks for helping me out with my stories and letting me bounce ideas off of you. Love ya, Babe! Clouds in the sky My dreams don't lie I know you're the one for me The only one that I see When I see your face I become a headcase Thinking of when we will be together Our lives intertwined with each other Waking up next to you There's nothing I wouldn't do You're with me every step of the way Fighting the odds to be with you one day Trusting that you're the one for me I know you won't let me be Nothing is as it seems I don't want to awake from this dream
