dont judge me hard, my first effort

I was lonely and when I found you all flourished. Dry field my body, one thousand streams watering it Come back in the cold, come as a light to warm my soul I love you, love you, like flower petals I wrapped around your body I love you, love you and all the land celebrates our love I love you ... Oh, come on! As melody from India I want to enter into your heart. Let me fill you with magic and drink from your kisses. You are the sun, the moon, you and I will become a priestess for you.
