What a tragedy What a deceit Training for the heart to break it and make it bleed Hunting down a forbidden untouched unhidden Mapping out a dream resisting a wish obtaining a hope pulling at all seams A force so strong facing all leads one moment one life one love seen as a gift Who knew love could be is was an attraction Hunted love so real such a kill nonfatal distraction Your world stuck in the past slipping away with your one your love Bleaching out the shame the dignity Resting on passion and desire letting go of the kill of tracking your own obsession
