Letting my mind wander, wondering what if...

If you had me tonight, Would your desire look like mine? Would you take me? Would you slowly walk across the room, Keeping your eyes fixed on me, Studying me as if I was your protégé? Would you look at me, Make deliberate eye contact, Looking me up and down, Head to toe, giving me a sly smile? Would you slowly move forward, Leaning into my ear to whisper, "I want to take you tonight"? Would you press your body against mine, Placing your hands on the front of my jeans, Slowly undoing the button, Then the zipper? Would your hands be working their way Under the band of my panties, Tantalizing me, Electricity tingling Through my every nerve? Would you follow the movement of my body, my hips, As I sway against your erection, While you continue to wander Further down to my mound? Would your hands find their way To the heat that comes From my inner thighs, The burning that yearns for your touch? Would your fingers tease me As they brush slightly across my dampness, Pressing harder against my seam? Would you move my panties over to the side, Tracing circles around my clit With your index finger before Gently slipping them inside? Would you respond to my instant gasps From the feel of your fingers Buried inside my heat? Would you sense my need, My desire, My unbridled passion for you? Would you be able to read me, To listen to my body from the inside out? Feeling, Knowing my heart's desire, My wicked secrets, The very centre of my being. Would you concentrate on the lines Along my walls, My sensitive spots, Rubbing, Caressing, Pushing, Digging deeper Until you had my body twitching? Would you replace your fingers with your tongue, Drawing lines from my belly button To my breasts, Teasing as you nip at my hardened nipples? Would you spread my legs apart, Giving you full access To my glistening clit? Would you move your mouth Along my bare mound, Breathing in my animalistic lust, My primal urge, And intoxicating scent, Leaving you hungry for more? Would you breathe your hot breath Over my wet lips, Feel my body tighten As your tongue gets closer? Would you notice The swell of my pussy That's been aching for you, The writhing of my hips Beckoning to meet yours? Would you part my lips, Your tongue slowly trailing Closer and closer To my moist entrance? Would you slowly touch The tip of my opening With your tongue, Waiting for a sigh, A reaction from my body To let you know, "You have me tonight, I'm yours"? Would you taste me slowly, Licking, Kissing, Sucking, Flicking my clit with your tongue? Would you slide up and down my dripping cunt, Each stroke making my bud more erect, Sending waves of heat Over the two of us? Would you push in deeper, Wrapping your eager tongue Around my swollen clit, Caressing it until my sweet creaminess of passion Flows over your face As we both ride into the crashing waves of a powerful orgasm? Would you pull me into a crushing embrace, The ragged edge of silence in the air, Kiss me hard, Tasting our pleasure, And look me in my eyes, And ask... If you had me tonight...
