

Loneliness

By Nordic_Pixie

Published on Lush Stories on 08 Nov 2015

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/loneliness.aspx>

The days are getting shorter, Darkness slowly taking over. The chill of the air a reminder Winter is nearing. Curling up small She remembers the sensation Of his warm skin Pressed against hers. How his fingertips feel Tracing across her body, Caressing and slowly exploring Every part of her. She aches, Longing to be with him, But tonight she is alone, No protective arms around her. She tries not to think of the passion The sweetest of torture As he drives her out of her mind With ultimate pleasure. In this moment it haunts her, Keeping sleep away, The darkness of the night Slowly creeping into her. Morning will come And everything will be ok, But right now, Loneliness is her only companion.