

Love lost in fumes

By jade

Published on Lush Stories on 19 Dec 2006

Love smoulders

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/love-lost-in-fumes.aspx>

Somebody is burning the wood
Flames arising and being lost as fumes
Your hand all over me making me feel good
In our churning bodies our love resumes.
Naked as we are, giggling in fun
Oil and cream, rubbing and joy
Bright sky, cool water and scorching sun Suddenly a hard clutch on my crotch, Ohh Boy! Giggling turned into wriggling..
Meat hardens inside my warm palm
My eager eyes looks up to you asking Whether my lips or straight a wham?
A slight nod and my lips engulfs
Slowly nursing a kid inside my mouth
Saliva and your viscous pulps
Cool breeze from the river south.
Fire, all of a sudden
Melted heart, love laden
Ravished body of a torn maiden
Hot fluids and expulsion from The garden of Eden.
In fumes went died the fire of our love.
Reaches God, high above.