What his love makes me feel.

Your love takes me to heights unknown with passion's tender care. Your lips seduce my hearts desire and lay all feelings bare. Your arms hold tight my lonely soul as you kiss away my fears. And promise me a life with you so free of pain and tears. Your fingers trace your love's design, your signature on me. I fall into your caring eyes as through my heart you see. Your body shields me from all harm; you hold me tight to you. You pleasure me beyond all thoughts with everything you do. You put me first and lead me on, your hand encased in mine. I am so proud to be with you. Our love is, oh, so fine. My heart, my love I give to you as you give yours to me. We'll walk together, arm in arm, for all eternity.
