

No matter what I need you

By SoithWaya

Published on Lush Stories on 18 Dec 2012

hey, wait a minute, stop the pressed, yall fucked up if yall didn't ask to use my imagination! u can read, but if u want to use it, ask first! hey, thanks, and have a good day!

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/no-matter-what-i-need-you.aspx>

I love you. I miss you. I want you. I need you. When the sun rises in the morning, Kissing me gently with its rays, I want you. When I sit in the sun, basking in its warm, I need you. When the sun dips into the ocean, that is how I know... I love you and don't want to lose you.

_____ When I blink, I lose you. When I close my eyes at night, I lose you. But when I hear your breathing so gentle and soft, I smile and sigh for you're always right there. _____ The other day, I found a feather. A snowy white feather. Turning it every way, I searched for where it could have come from. Then I felt hands close over my eyes, A whispered "guess who" And I instantly knew.. The other day an angel fell And now I have you