He said it meant nothing. He would never do it again. He didn't want to hurt her, And she wanted to believe in him. He begged her to forgive him, Which she had done from the start. He wanted the chance to prove to her, What mattered was in his heart. "Trust me, I will show you, Just give me the chance ... If it takes forever, I will take that stance" Once he says he wants to show you, And prove it was all a mistake ... A girl knows what happens next, What's honestly at stake.
