

Obsession

By Lydia_

Published on Lush Stories on 13 Dec 2009

This work is an original creation of Lydia Kiei-Lynne. Do not steal or duplicate. If you've seen this work on another site under a different name, it has been taken without permission.

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/obsession.aspx>

I crave the warmth of your body

Writhing on and inside of me

Not feeling it is making me crazy

I need to hear your voice, velvet sweet.

I cannot stand the distance, the ocean between

Your being here

I want your shoulder to lean

On to assuage my fear.

My skin is crawling

Without your touch to calm me down

I know we both are ready to fall

You're my favorite way to fly, I've found.

My adoration for you

Helps to warm me through

Your attraction helps me

Set my soul free.