

Poem

By ashflower

Published on Lush Stories on 07 Jan 2012

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/poem.aspx>

His lips bloodied red His fangs sparkling white His skin white as snow His embrace is death Yet he haunts more of me I call to him in the darkest of night To feel his passion for warmth He is cold and yet warm His passion blinds me Even I do not see His sinking hunger For me is more More than my love He wants me My life My love For eternity