Hands grabbing each others' bodies, like we never met each other before Graciously kissing, Faster and faster Suffocated by your love I'm obsessing more More than anything in the world We fight, We run But we both know We will both will come back Because our love is so powerful Clothes are thrown all over the place To the bedroom As our bodies are naked To take to the bedroom As the breathing increases You put me on the bed You get on top As we kiss more and more Our hands are unwound To each others' bodies As we meet each others' eyes We want more You put your cock in me I am poisoned by your love More and more; it's like a drug Screaming "Harder" and "More" As we are making love You turn me around I'm on my hands and knees My favorite position ever We continue harder and faster As you and I cum We are exhausted I am suffocated by your love You're my addiction You are the meaning of my life
