Our eyes meet across the room, A spark, an immediate attraction
The world disappears, it's a quiet tomb
Your feet move, deciding to take action. You order a drink, to break the ice
Although I don't feel anything but the heat. Your eyes are unveiled, undisguised
Discouraging a hasty retreat
Our conversation carries well Across topics I will never keep in mind. Possibly politics, creation, writing, or the existence of hell
Or even about where we're from, the people we left behind... "Take me home," I tell you. The look in your eyes exciting me
We pay the bill and it was your house we drove to Wondering what the night would be. You close the door when I walk in And kiss me on the spot
So passionately, it must be a sin, But this is so right, I know that it's not!
Sauntering to the bed, you lay me down
And proceed to make us both nude
Skin on skin, not uttering a sound
Neither one wanting to shatter the mood... I begin stroking your engorged cock
Loving how it throbs in my hand
It looks so appealing, I try not to gawk
I want it more than I had planned. I wrap my lips, Pumping at a slow, then feverish pace
Bobs and weaves, lifts and dips
Until you release upon my face. I clean up and kiss you
As your fingers curl into my flesh and hair
Biting my lower lip, the way I love to do
Then reach down and brush against my pussy, shaven bare
You slide two fingers into me
Kissing my lips, moving down to my chest
Your pace quickens, slamming those fingers into my body
As you kiss and suck my tender breasts
"I need you inside me," I beg
"Ride me!" gently, you command
I slide your hard cock into me, spreading my legs
Happily complying with your demand
You thrust into me with fire
I lean over to kiss you
Meeting your eyes, seeing them burn with desire Mixed with something deeper, something new.
Our moans intertwine in the night
Letting waves wash over us with ecstasy
Your teeth find my shoulder for a deep bite
That pushes me over the edge to release
You feel the walls of my pussy convulse
Urging you to cum inside
Your release for the second time, I feel it pulse
You become relaxed and out you glide. You enfold me in your arms
And kiss my forehead, tenderly sweet
Making me safe from harm
As we fall into satisfied dreams.
