

The Patchwork Heart

By Shyllass

Published on Lush Stories on 16 Oct 2012

Copyright ©2017 Daisy Shyllass. All Rights Reserved. This material may not be reproduced, displayed, modified or distributed without prior permission. Please be respectful of my intellectual property.

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/the-patchwork-heart.aspx>

This poem only available on Lush Stories . If you are reading it elsewhere, it has been stolen.
Rushing down this endless night, And spinning in the midnight blue, Clutching at the empty air, Are transcendental thoughts of you. Spirits ablaze, unhappy pair Both face the twilight gloaming, So doomed to wander in this dream, Both doomed to lonesome roaming. By the bonfire's merry blaze, Bright showers of sparks a-streaming Light the velvet of the skies, Gold twin to starry gleaming. A universe of loneliness, A void of hearts asunder, A rift in nature, time and space, Eternity's sad wonder. Where walks that love whose face alights Upon the shattered heart And mends it with a gentle kiss As if no piece were ripped apart? Across the oceans of these dreams And rippling joys of crystal seas, This patchwork heart will search for yours Despite all that it deeply grieves. For rushing down this endless night, And spinning in the midnight blue, And clutching at the empty air Are transcendental thoughts of you. This poem only available on Lush Stories . If you are reading it elsewhere, it has been stolen.