

To you, from me

By SydneySider

Published on Lush Stories on 20 Nov 2012

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/to-you-from-me-1.aspx>

You came to me as a dream, Becoming my daydreams My every thought consumed by you, Bringing on explicit wet dreams My heart overwhelmed by you, It burns with every longing love soaked beat Flooding my being with a fiery desire, Like a ring around my soul Your devoted passion holding me captive, Like an intoxicating drug An addiction that has ravaged me, One I need not challenge Your invisible presence, Encapsulates me I feel safe and secure, Forever loved and adored An insatiable craving to hold your hand, Smooth, soft fingers entwined with hardened hands Slowly lifting to waiting lips, Kissing you softly My eyes rest upon your beauty, As my fingertips graze your cheek Combing back your long dark locks, Wrapped between my fingers Revealing the face of a goddess, Awash with a blushing grin Your eyelids closing slowly, As a reaction from my touch My pounding heart flutters, Leaving my lungs void of oxygen I struggle to keep focus, I quiver with unyielding lust The air thick with your scent, Your natural musk A blend of sweet perfume, I can see my emotions mirrored in yours I have said it all, over and over The "I Love you's" The "I want you's" The "I need you's" But it's not near enough, For what I have shown you It's just a tiny drop, In an ocean of love and affection Desires and wanting, Its waves crashing against your soul Shaking you to the core, A gorgeous epicenter Your happiness beaming, Through a smile that melts my heart Leaving me aching and wanting you Forever More.....