

Unrequited Love

By zebadee4u

Published on Lush Stories on 18 Aug 2010

I watched him as he walked up near

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/unrequited-love.aspx>

Unrequited love I watched him as he walked up near Hoping my heartbeats he would not hear I longed to have him close to me But noticing me would never be I dreamt that that he would strip me bare And run his fingers through my hair To kiss my neck would make me weak And make my nipples rise to peak To feel his body next to mine Would be a feeling so divine To feel our flesh so close and warm Would surely start a passion storm His hands upon my maiden hair Finding my clit and rubbing it there His lips caressing my moistened slit Driving me wild and wanting it His lovely penis thrusting in My secret cavern deep within We'd sway together just as one Exotic feelings as we cum Although this union could never be He would never look at me But private moments in my head Could take him often to my bed