

Wall

By ktuck

Published on Lush Stories on 17 Nov 2012

Hope you enjoy, short and sweet

<https://www.lushstories.com/stories/love-poems/wall.aspx>

I push you against the wall I feel your hands through my hair. All the things you bear. My heart, my soul, my demons and all. And here you stand Against my wall. I crave you I need you, through and through My body begs for you. I stand and look at you. Your eyes glaze over me like a snake You lean in and kiss me It feels like my legs will break. You glide your hands against my chest I bite my lip and look at you Your smile shatters through me. My heart pounds... Beat by beat, breath by breath You back me up against the wall. I fall, body and soul. I belong to you.