What did I do, why did you leave me? Of all the moments in my life, you were the best surprise You are deeply imbedded in my heart and I long to look into your eyes I pray to feel your touch but know I never will We talked and loved deeper then I thought possible I love you with all my heart You broke my heart You were my wish You were my desire You were my hope I think of you always Once as a blessing And now as the greatest loss I'll ever experience
