Love is a choice you make every day, choose to celebrate it...

You signed your name across my heart And that's where it will stay. Through the sunny days and the rainy ones Through the changing of the seasons, it will endure. We built a love that is greater than any structure, Stronger than any stone and more powerful than the waves. We closed all the doors to the past And welcome a future of love and devotion. You signed your name across my heart Like a tattoo on my soul, it will never fade.
