Unexpected Encounter

After an 18 year marriage my husband and I divorced when I was 37. For the next year I limited my activities to spending time by myself and with a few of my girlfriends. My son had entered college in the fall and when Spring Break was nearing we decided to take a trip to Florida for his break. A few days before we were to leave he asked if it would be ok for him to invite his roommate alongso I agreed since I thought it would give him someone to hang out with. I had only met his roommate a couple of times. He was a very handsome guy and from the beginning of our trip he gave me a lot of attention but I figured he was just being nice to show his appreciation for letting him share our vacation. A couple of days after we arrived he and my son had gone down to the beach and I had gone back to the condo from the pool. A short time later he came back supposedly for a drink. I was standing behind the sofa watching something on TV when he came up behind me, put his arms around me loosely and kissed me on the neck. I spoke his name in a surprised tone and asked him what was going on. He commented that he thought I was "hot" especially in my bikini. I kinda chuckled and asked him if he didn't think I was a little old for him. He kissed me on the neck a couple more times telling me age didn't matter and as we talked he put his hand on my butt. This time I spoke his name in a scolding tone but he quickly ran his hand between my legs in my bikini bottom and ran a finger in me. After over a year and a half of nothing like that the feeling was something I had truly missed and I allowed him to continue until he brought me to an orgasm.. Then he eased me forward over the sofa back and I realized he was getting his penis out. I told him we had gone as far as we could then I felt his penis searching for my very wet love hole.. I yelled.. "We can't, we can'tyou might get me pregnant!!!!" But he entered me doggy fashion and began a slow rhythmic motion until he was completely in.. When he asked me if I was enjoying it I responded with, "What do you think, it's been a long time, just please...please don't cum in me.". After a good minute I was enjoying it way too much and I told him we needed to stop because there was indeed a very good chance I could get pregnant. He didn't say a thing but simply continued his forceful thrusting and before I could make my request again I felt him filling me up with an enormous load. I screamed as my whole body shook with pleasure asking him why he had done that to me. He finished cumming in me pulled out and told me that he could tell that I really hadn't wanted him pulled out. I ran to the bathroom. Never had I had anyone cum in me that much in my life. I thought I would surely get pregnant. The rest of the trip was a little uncomfortable being around him, (even though I had truly enjoyed the encounter except for the fact that we had had unprotected sex.) For the next couple of weeks I did a lot of praying and thankfully he did not get me pregnant. After the trip he would call me and tell me how much he had enjoyed being with me. I met him a couple more times but I made sure he used a condom although he always tried to get me to do it without. I know to this day that he got a thrill out of knowing he got his chance to knock me up. Since that time I have found much more pleasure with younger guys than those older men of my age. It is also obvious that younger guys get a thrill out of making love to an older woman with most of them wanting to have unprotected sex probably hoping they can brag about getting an older woman pregnant. At some point I want another child and I'm sure I will choose a younger guy to father it.
